*F*or, when I came into the silent assemblies of God's people, I felt a secret power among them which touched
my heart;
and as I gave way unto it I found the evil weakening in me and the good raised up...

*Robert Barclay,
early Quaker*

It is our experience that communion with God is a fundamental need of the human soul.

Friends worship by waiting in silent expectation of God's communication.

We seek after the light... the light of the divine spirit.

True worship may be experienced at any time; in any place-- alone on the hills or in the busy daily life-- we may turn to God, and find him, for in him we live and move and have our being. But this individual experience is not sufficient, and in a meeting held under the influence of the Spirit there is a giving and receiving between its members, one helping another with or without words.

Christian Faith and Practice in the Experience of the Society of Friends.
